

Name: Bracamonte, Samuel M.

Section: BT405

With the upcoming elections approaching, vote buying becomes increasingly common as candidates try to secure a position. Memes are often created as a satirical way to raise public awareness about this issue and to emphasize the need for change in the country. Many candidates make numerous promises during their campaigns, but once they are in power, these promises are often left unfulfilled, resulting in incomplete programs and financial losses that ultimately misuse the public's money.